[EN] 10. Removing the content of an object

The function of removing the content of an object can be useful when we want to remove the content while leaving the bibliographic description of its editions and stating the reason for the removal.

n order to remove the content of an object:

1. On the element list, select the object the content of which is to be removed.
2. From the context menu, select the "Remove content..." option.
3. Enter the reason for the removal. Caution! The reason is required because it will be displayed to the website users to inform them about the removal of the content of the object.
